

Terms and Conditions

Thank you so much for your interest to play at one of our shows. At Amplify we are grateful for every single act wishing to get involved and we aim to justify our talented roster with a higher quality of organisation and commitment to success. Before you start your preparations to play one of our stages, there are some terms and conditions that each act must adhere to.

What we expect from the Artist/Band

- Bands/Artists who take the shows seriously will be noted within our documentation. This includes the following;
 - Online promotion,
 - Attracting an audience to the event (exceptions will be made for travelling bands),
 - Having a professional attitude on the night.
- Further opportunities down the line will be available to band/artists who act accordingly, including;
 - Paid shows,
 - Slots in different venues,
 - High recommendation to other promoters and festival organisers,
 - Album/EP/Single launch shows,
 - Shows around the country.
- If you do need to cancel a slot, please give us two weeks advance notice as it takes time to find a replacement.
- If you cancel within the two weeks of the show, it may lessen your chances to be booked again at future Amplify slots. Exceptions will be made in serious circumstances eg; family grievances, serious illnesses, transport mechanical issues etc.
- We have worked incredibly hard to develop a great working relationship with our venues. Please respect the venue property/backline, other bands, the customers, the bar staff and Amplify staff. Bands that conduct themselves in an unprofessional manner to any of the above parties will be removed from the show and will no longer be booked by Amplify.

What to expect from Amplify Promotions

- You can expect well organised event as a performer or an attendee.
- Top quality line ups in Dublin's best music venues.
- Professional attitude from Amplify staff.
- Amplify Promotions will absorb the costs of running a show, the artist will not need to pay for the venue hire, sound engineers or gear rental; we'll look after that.
- Performing artists and upcoming shows will be promoted by Amplify Promotions across Social Media by our specialists with well-designed posters and graphics.
- For our shows to be affordable to the public; we want a crowd in front of you on stage and do not want to affect the opportunity with overly expensive entry fees. This does not include any launch shows, these prices are determined by the bands themselves.
- Amplify staff member to be present at the shows.
- We will guarantee that all events will be a positive experience for every party involved. Amplify Promotions provide shows in highly established venues. As listed, we will provide the venue, the sound engineers and backline. However, we cannot fill the room with your adoring fans. That is essentially up to yourselves.
